"TIPP" Skills for Emotional Regulation

When you're feeling stressed, anxious, or overwhelmed, these simple, physical techniques can help shift your emotional state.

TIPP stands for:

Temperature

Cool down to calm down

- Splash your face with cold water.
- Hold an ice cube or rub it on your face.
- Lower the room temperature.

Intense Exercise

Dissipate energy with a burst of cardio.

- Short jog, brisk walk, jumping jacks.
- Even a short burst can help.

Progressive Muscle Relaxation

Used in medical settings for stress, anxiety, insomnia, and more.

- Move through the body, one muscle group at a time, tensing and then relaxing each group.

Paced Breathing

Shift your emotional state through the breath.

- Breathe from the belly, not the chest.
- Slow your breathing to 6 breaths per minute or less.

Sample sequence:

feet and calves → thighs → glutes → stomach → chest → back → arms and hands → neck → face
