

Getting Distance from Distractions

When your phone is nearby, you have to resist it. When it's in the next room, you mostly forget about it. Physical distance from your devices is one of the most powerful tools you have.

The Spectrum of Phone Removal

In your pocket

Across the room

In a drawer

In a different room

Left behind on a walk

Ratchet up from there.

Smartwatch

A smartwatch lets you physically separate from your phone while staying reachable - texts, emails, calendar, timers, all on your wrist. The most expensive strategy here, but it makes phone distance easier to sustain.

Blockers

Software that blocks distracting apps and websites on a schedule you set. Best used alongside physical distance, not as a substitute.